industrial escapes

Architecture and décor can really make a hotel stand out by creating an impressive atmosphere for guests. An industrial interior has gained popularity with accents like raw brick walls and metal furniture. Here we check out some unique Asian properties with industrial-themed accommodations.

The latest boutique hotel in Melaka stands out from the crowd thanks to its Insta-worthy décor. The bare brick walls give a loft-like Brooklyn feel that is cleverly mixed with a farmhouse industrial interior design. The architectural anomaly is the center courtyard, reminiscent of the old Nyonya houses of Melaka with open gardens in the middle of their home.

That Brooklyn vibe extends to their rooms, furnished with a four-poster bed, skeleton iron wardrobe and subway tiles throughout the bathroom. Bring the whole brood as their family suites can accommodate parents and children in one gigantic room. Don't forget to try the delectable European dishes at their quaint restaurant Bica & Co. that see locals flock to for weekend brunch and dinner.
